Software development / Informational technologies and services November 2014 - October 2017

It is a software engineering company focused on web development. For 2 years I had been working for our first and main client and that work included backend development, REST services, xml/json manipulation. Also, we are continuously developing a custom PHP MVC framework which we use for most of our projects. We have other clients and projects as well and I am acting as a project manager and developer on some of them.

Technologies used:

PHP, MySQL, Javascript, HTML, CSS
